

NOMINATE WE

Seven able Princetonians-Jessica Serena Bartlett, Constance Rice Brook, Coralie Tillis Cain, Ruth Evans Griggs, Mary Lanahan Murray, Louise Beula Osgood and Jeanne Murray Wright-who together are ringing down the curtain on some 230 years of service to Princeton and to the literally 100's of citizens whose understanding will help shape the Princeton of tomorrow. Over the past several decades, this septette, one of whom has been in the Borough Schools for 40 years and another for 39, has personified dedication to "the most responsible, the least advertised, the worst paid and the most richty rewarded profession in the world"teaching.

At a time when the nation can hardly afford to release teachers of demonstrated capacity, these seven radiate the diversity that is the strength of American public education. Mrs. Brook and Mrs. Griggs have helped make the Nassau Street Elementary School all that it is, while the Misses Bartlett, Osgood and Wright have contributed in large measure to the ongoing development of Princeton High School, Mrs. Murray bas bridged the mathematics gap between junior and senior high school and Mrs. Cain has divided her career into two parts, the younger grades and since 1948 the Home Economics Program in the Witherspoon School

Highly creative," a term most often reserved for higher mathematics and the fine arts, is now a ranking Borough school official describes the work Mrs. Cain, Florida-born and a Rutgers alumna, has carried forward at Witherspoon. In the same sense, Miss Osgood, Michigan-reared and educated, is known for her emphasis on compositions and on a working-knowledge of the classics in English and American literature. Mrs.

Murray, first appointed to the Borough School System in 1923 and wife of Princeton's Postmaster, has been called a "beloved driver" by former students who during their college years have thanked her for her insistence on excellence.

Miss Wright, daughter of an eminent Princeton physlcian and a member of the PHS Class of 1915, started out as a classicist and continued her association with "the love of her life. Cicero" until she became Assistant Principal of the High School in 1958. Dean of Girls for the past 28 years, she is a gifted administrator who senses that "there are never two days quite alike." As director of the High School's far-reaching program in social studies, Miss Bartlett, holding degrees from Chicago and Columbia, has seen the school's enrollment mushroom from 500 in 1930 to 1500-plus in the recently concluded year

Few can think of the Nassau Street School without mentioning Mrs. Griggs and Mrs. Brook. The former, a lifelong resident of New Jersey, whose tenure stretches back to 1920, will long be remembered as a long-working reading specialist and as the creator-with her fellow teachers-of the annually successful Christmas Operetta. Head of the Borough's Primary Department, and in recent years director of a popular summer day camp. Mrs. Brook has succeeded in relating camping and farm-life experiences for her first-grade class to the prescribed routine of reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic

For distinguished achievement far above, and beyond, the call of duty; for looking upon education as a "many-ringed circus" in which teachers are constantly facing the demands of change and challenge; for their contributions to this community's continued well-being: these seven are our nominees for

The objectors: residents of Rosedale Road who do not want the sower; and scattered house-holders all over the Township who do not want the sidewalk. About Sewers. At Monday meeting, William H. Sword, Rose-dale Road, protested what he called "the lack of centimity" in Township policy over the parts. "When we built our houses in 1955, he told Committee, "we tried everything we could think said the trunk line would be overloaded and we were required

Committeeman John F. Mount told Mr. Sword that, in 1885, Township Committee had no choice but to follow the recommendations of the Joint Sewer Operating Committee, but thurse had changed in five years, times had changed in five years. It was not seen to the town the seen to the town the seen to the Township es possible," Mr. Mount explained. "Septic systems become useless in a short time here because of the rock strata and the kind of the rock strata and the kind of until recently how bad the sewer situation was; actually, sewers should have been laid in '55."

Mr. Baltzer said he thought it was unfair to use his defective system as a lever to introduce the Rosedale Road sewer ques-tion, but Committeeman William Marvel assured him that his problem was not the cause:

"At some point in time, a sewer must be laid," Mr. Marvel said, "Right now, one septic system has gone bad, Maybe two will go bad in the next year. That's the way things have been all over the work of the way we've got to build a sewer?"

Changing Policies. Mr. Mount pointed out that the Township has adopted many policies in the pest which it does not follow now, and he cited new zoning regula-tions which have increased lot sizes, regulations requiring wider streets and so on.

"Some people will always he hurt." Mr. Mount said. "This is a growing community and we must learn by experience."

James Tizpatrick another Rosedale Road resident, said that, resident Rosedale Road resident, said that, resident Rosedale Road resident, said that resident Rosedale Road Rosedale Road Rosedale Rosedale

Mr. Mount, wha presided in the absence of Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman while on military duty, warned speakers on two occasions not to blame Mrs. Marcella Farley, Township Health Officer, for Indings made on individual seplic systems. "Mrs. Farley acts on the orders of the Township Both audience, "She is a Township employee and does not form policy."

After the lengthy and heated hearing, the three Committeemen present (Committeemen Stanley C. Smoyer was also absent), vote 2.1 to table the Rosedale sewer formation could be obtained from the Board of Health and possibly from geologists. Committeeman Marvel voted "no," commenting, "We have all the informating, when the least of the standard on the continued on Page 2.

Will We Take This Lying Down?

On June 16 the New York Times printed on its front page a story representing that a majority of the New Jersey delegates to the Democratic convention had promised votes to Kennedy. The next day the Times buried denial of the story by Gov. Meyner, chairman of the delegation, on page 41. This is typical. The ever growing number of Stevenson supporters is not fully represented by the delegates and is misrepresented in the papers.

Now more than ever America needs a statesman who can not only lead this country decisively but who can rebuild our position of leadership in the world. We need Stevenson for President. He can win, if nominated. We must make sure he is.

What You Can Do: It is crucial that Gov. Meyner retain full control of the N. J. Delegation. Write or wire him at once, even if you have already signed a petition. Tell him you are for Stevenson for President . . . and why. This will give him the evidence he needs. Send it to:

If your neighbor has moved up to 1960's OILHEAT, too, then don't bother to compare!
BUT if your neighbor is using any other form of automatic heat, you'll get a feeling of satisfaction in comparing your low monthly fuel bills with his.
You see 1960's OILHEAT is the result of intensive research in the 1950's. The purpose of this research was to bring you a modern home heating fuel custom-tailored to today's demand for convenient, comfortable, safe, economical heating. 1960's OILHEAT meets these specifications better than any form of home heating on the market today!
Ask your fuel dealer about 1960's OILHEAT and your home, He will give you the eye-opening facts... facts that are proving themselves in thousands of modern New Jersey homes.

NOW IS THE TIME

In the timely discussion on what our "National Purpose" should be, now being conducted by the New York Times and Life, Clinton L. Rossiter, III, Pro-fessor of Government and Chairman of that Department at Cornell*, in his recent article listed four crises confronting us.

Professor Rossiter writes that the fourth crisis—that of war and peace—"presents this nation with its most fateful challenge to greatness...—in the yearning of mankind to be done with wars and rumors of wars and to build up the conditions of a secure and hountiful peace—we will find, if we are ever to find it at all, a renewed sense of national purpose.... Several considerations make this choice as appealing as it is inevitable.

First, the challenge of peace looms above the others in present urgency and future import. No purpose of the American people could be more pressing than that of forestalling a savage war that oil porticipants and spectotors are certain to lose. The achievement of this purpose would give us first rank among all nations in the histories of the future . . . We brought ourselves virtually unaided to the center of the stage of history, and we will fail all mackind as well as ourselves if we do not act greatly upon it.

Second, this challenge seems much the hest calculated to UNITE the nation. No other problem directs itself so immediately to very American; no other calls for sacrifices from every man and woman in due proportion, no other holds out a richer reward to every group and interest and section . . .

Finally, the challenge of peace calls upon us to deal not just with ourselves but with all mankind, and thus throws our self-awareness as a nation into sharpest focus. A sense of national purpose is at bottom a sense of international purpose . . .

In Professor Ressiter's opinion, "IT HAS NOW BECOME THE DESTINY OF THE WORLD PRUDENTLY AND PRAGMATICALLY—STEP BY STEP, PACT BY PACT, CONCESSION BY CONCESSION—THROUGH COOPERATION TO CONFEDERACY TO FEDERATION AND AT LAST TO A GOVERNMENT HAVING POWER TO ENFORCE PEACE.

There is little doubt that the world is moving fitfully in this direction and the mightiest nation should show the way rather than drag its feet . . While the process may and should take several generations . . . the ultimate goal and our responsibility for leading the way toward it must never be lost from sight .

Let us lahor, then, in the world at large—in the United Nations, in the World Court, in conferences at Geneva, in the reach into space, in the dozen great ventures in which we have already begun to surrender some aspect of our pristine sovereignty—with this lofty purpose in mind."

Professor Rossiter received his Ph.D from Princeton in 1942.

The statements italicized and capitalized were not in Professor Rossiter's article.

If YOU want to help in "this lofty purpose" join the Princeton Chapter of the UNITED WORLD FEDERALISTS today. For fourteen years they have been advocating what Professor Rossiter and other well-informed persons now believe to he the only road to world peace. They want you as an active and supporting
